New Look Jason Warren Team Thriving

By Julian Cook

After over two decades as a horse trainer, Mornington's Jason Warren has grown conditioned to change.

It's the nature of the industry that horses, staff and even properties come and go but it's the foundations that trainers build themselves over time that ultimately set them up for continued success.

Warren had always been keen to learn, long before preparing his first ever winner, Oro's Gift, at his home track in June 2001.

"I was essentially a horse breaker and pre-trainer who developed into a trainer and when I made that transition, I felt that I probably needed to further my education if I'm going to be a competitive, commercial trainer," Warren said.

"I went and worked for Lee and Anthony Freedman. Essentially, I base the way that I train on the way that they train.

"I rely on my eye a lot and being up close with the horses, seeing how they pull up after they gallop and how they eat every morning."

The past decade has seen several gun gallopers pass through under that watchful eye. Bel Sprinter was his banner horse for five seasons, delivering Warren his first and only Group 1 title in the 2013 Galaxy (1100m) at Rosehill. Rosemont Stud bred and owned superstar Brooklyn Hustle was next to fly the flag, bursting onto the scene in 2018 before retiring in June last year as one of the unluckiest horses in recent memory not to win at the elite level.

The absence of Brooklyn Hustle threatened to leave a sizeable hole in Warren's ranks but as luck would have it, along came Hellbent filly Benedetta. The rising star made her debut in December last year before winning four on the bounce and over $600,000 in prize money with her greatest victory so far coming at her penultimate start in the $750,000 Inglis Sprint (1200m) at Flemington on March 4.

"Our banner horse from last season, Brooklyn Hustle, she's just retired to stud. It's nice to have a fillylike Benedetta to fill her shoes so it's exciting times ahead for our stable," Warren said.

"The barrier beat her at her first start at Moe and since then she's just taken big steps at every outing. What she reeled off [in the Inglis Sprint] was as sensational on the clock as it was to the eye, and we feel that we don't know where her ceiling is yet."

Warren says that all options

are on the table for Benedetta in the spring, also highlighting his confidence in the likes of Confrontational and Tax Free Prophet while declaring that "the sky's the limit" for star two-year-olds Freakofnature and Treasurerway.

"It's very exciting and I think we have a lot to look forward to, especially in the spring. We've also got a really good team of staff, probably the best that we've had in many years.

"You can't do it without good people around you and essentially it's not just good people supporting your stable with good horses but also the staff to take care of them."

Warren's recent success would suggest that he's in career-best form, this season he's already knocked off his own prize money earning record with four months still to go. Good staff and horses help but his decision last year to compliment his existing set up with the purchase of a 10-acre property on Roberts Road, adjoining Mornington Racecourse, also appears to have contributed greatly.

"I've trained at Mornington for over 20 years and most of that time has been off track."

"My partner, Kate, found this place for sale and so we bought it privately. 10-acres so close to the track, opposite our front gate is the entrance to the pool. It's just the perfect spot and I've built 16 boxes here with the view to building another 50 down the front.

"The horses are very relaxed when they walk out of our front gate. It's pretty quiet, you wouldn't think you're five minutes from Mornington being here. It's so peaceful."

That serenity contrasts with the "electric" atmosphere that Kate says is currently running through their stable thanks to quality horseflesh and fresh surrounds.

As for Warren's motivation for another big race victory, ten years after claiming his first Group 1?

"I'm a fierce competitor, whether that's a BM58 at Pakenham on a Thursday night in the last race or a Group 1 on Friday night at Moonee Valley."

"I think that the moment that you lose that competitiveness, you're probably in the wrong game."

Some things never change.

The Pines Football Club was established in 1964, and from humble beginnings has grown into an important and respected member of the Mornington Peninsula Netball Football League (MPNFL) competition.

In 2014 the club celebrated 50 years of existence, a time span in which the senior club achieved 6 firsts, 15 reserves, 10 thirds and 5 fourths premierships.

Following a number of prosperous years the Pines successfully transitioned from Nepean Football League to the Mornington Peninsula Football League which eventually became the MPNFL. Pines Netball Club was added to the sporting arrangements in 2011 and with new netball courts to be built within the Eric Bell reserve in 2017 the integration of netball and football into one club will be complete.

The club is proud of its heritage and provides a key piece of social capital to the Pines and Frankston community for both current and past people of the Pines.
